

January 2020

DIGITAL SKILLS CLASSES FOR PARENTS IN AUSTIN

Last November, CTN partnered with Latinitas to provide a basic digital literacy class for 15 parents and grandparents at Martin Middle School in Austin. Upon completion of the 8-hour course, each participant received a refurbished laptop. Read more on the class on the CTN blog.

ANOTHER GREAT YEAR WITH TECHWOMEN

On October 26, CTN hosted another San Francisco Tech Teach-In event with TechWomen at 30th Street Senior Center. Nine volunteers helped out women from 10 different countries during the two-hour event. Read more the event on the CTN blog.

SENIORS IN THE SUNSET LEARN TABLET SKILLS

Last October, CTN taught their final class as part of Sunset Tech Connect in San Francisco. In total, 48 older adults graduated from this 12-week training on general Internet skills and took home a Samsung Galaxy tablet. Learn more on the CTN blog.

EXPANDING DIGITAL LITERACY IN CHINATOWN

CTN renewed its contract with the City of San Francisco to provide a mix of multi-session classes on the basics of using a computer and the internet, as well as intermediate skills needed for office work. This is CTN's third year working with the city to help residents in low-incoming housing developments improve their digital skills. Learn more on the CTN blog.

JOIN OUR TEAM!

Are you passionate about closing the digital divide? Do you live in the San Francisco Bay Area? If so, consider applying to work with us! We are looking to fill the following full-time positions:

- Digital Literacy Senior Program Manager
- Volunteer Manager

Help us transform lives through digital literacy!